

Appointment of New Editor-in -Chief for FJHSS

Federal University Ndufu-Alike, Ikwo is pleased to announce a new Editor-in-Chief for the FUNAI Journal of Humanities and Social Sciences following the sad passing of the pioneer Editor-in-Chief Professor Lucy Uzoma Ekwueme in November 2015. The Editorial Board will be led by Editor-in-Chief Professor Kelvin Ngozi Nwogu. Professor Nwogu served the journal as an Associate Editor (Language Studies) before his current appointment. Professor Nwogu is a Professor of English Language at FUNAI and the Director of Academic Planning. He obtained a Bachelor in English, University Ife, Nigeria (1978), Master in English, University Jos, Nigeria (1982) and Doctor of Philosophy in English Language, Aston University, Birmingham, England (1989). He commenced his academic career as a lecturer at Federal College of Education, Kontagora, Nigeria, 1979-1980. He later moved to Federal University of Technology, Yola in 1981 where he started as Assistant Lecturer and rose to the position of Associate Professor in 1993 and Professor in 1997. He is a recipient of Commonwealth Academy Staff award and a Member Linguistics Association Nigeria. FJHSS Editorial Board wishes Professor Nwogu a successful tenure in office.